PANDA GARDEN

1606 Second Avenue (Between 83rd & 84th Street)
RESTAURANTS:
BRUCE SINCLAIR, Former Dining Editor of Cue

This place originally opened as The Flying Tiger. Tigers, however, are deemed unlucky by the Chinese; pandas, on the other hand, are okay—thus the new name. Monikers aside, this is one of the best Chinese restaurants in New York, and it puts many of the chichi midtown oriental dining palaces to shame.

The restaurant is spacious, pretty and extraordinarily comfortable. It is a high-ceilinged room, with a window wall curtained with lacy ccur, subdued lighting, and a lively, ingratiating staff.

MARTIN BURDEN, Dining Editor of N.Y. Post
Panda worth a visit. It is handsome place.

The Spacious dining spot has the same contemporary nonethnic design with glassshaded candles on the tables, wide curved chairs, a few potted plants, floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall windows. And the menu stresses Hunan & Szechuan Specialties. These are indicated by the usual red stars.

The same a la carte menu is used throughout the day. A favorite of ours — chunks of beef — sautéed with orange-flavored sauce; bean curd cooked in hot spicy sauce, with crab meat and black mushroom; whole sea bass crispy deep-fried and served with hot sauce; General Tso's Chicken. Not everything is tongue-tingling. There are the Lemon Chicken, deep fried and topped with a lemon sauce; crispy-fried prawns with walnuts.

"The Crown Jewels of Hot Doggery...
The King Reigns Supreme"
—Zagats

The Papaya King Story

In 1923, a 16-year-old Greek boy named Gus Poulos arrived at the docks of Ellis Island from Greece. Penniless but industrious, he set his sights on achieving the American Dream.

On a vacation to Miami in the late 20's, Gus came to love the various concoctions of papaya, pineapple and orange juices so popular with local residents. When he got back to New York, he went looking for tropical fruits to satisfy his newly acquired craving, but to no avail. In 1932, Gus opened his first juice store on 86th Street and 3rd Avenue in Manhattan, which at the time was an area heavily populated with German and Polish immigrants. After seeing the popularity of sausages in the neighborhood, he introduced the frankfurter to his juice stand, and business skyrocketed. Gus was very particular about his franks and insisted that Papaya King's hot dogs be specially formulated.

The Zagat dining guide has called Papaya King the "best, stand-up lunch in the city" and a "must visit" highlight of any trip to New York City. Critic Ed Levine of New York City calls it the "best hot dog in the world." Papaya King has become a tradition with local residents, tourists, political and business luminaries, as well as the jet set of New York society. Papaya King represents the ultimate in quick dining — delicious stand-up fare enjoyed as you rub elbows with all walks of people.

Pho is... seasoned meat in a bowl that includes beef, pork and tendon with rice and rice noodles. It comes with a spicy broth that is gently and distinctly seasoned. It is a very healthy and satisfying meal. Each bowl is accompanied by a plate of bean sprouts, radishes, wedges of lime and slices of jalapenos.

Shabu Shabu is... one of Japan's most popular dishes. It is a hot dish because each person gets to actually cook and create their own meal at the table.

The Chinese people observe many festivities according to the days in the lunar calendar, which runs in cycles of sixty years. The first cycle was set by Huang Ti, B. C. 2697 and the system is continuous to the present, in groups of three cycles (上元, 中元 and 下元). The present cycle beginning 1924 is the third (下元) in the 26th group since Huang Ti and it is the 78th cycle. This group, from 1924 A. D. to 1983 A. D., follows, is presented below for your information. For example, 1956 is known as the year of monkey. You now can try to locate the year you were born. Is it "DOG, PIG, or RAT" year? Well, have fun!

ASK GAEL

WHERE OUR CRITIC TELLS HER FRIENDS TO EAT
BY GAEL GREENE

■ Where do you go for Chinese food?

Pig Heaven is partly my fault, and not for a moment do I regret it. "No one does pork like this or just wonderful bean curd," I complained to David Keh, our guide on a trencherman's tour of China, Hong Kong, and Taipei. Months later, Sam Lopata's wondrously silly pink pigs were dancing in the faux-barnyard whimsy of Pig Heaven. Forgive me, but I think the pig's ear is delicious, and the roast pork sensational. Inconsistency does rule. From time to time, suckling pig is a strikeout. But turnip cakes, scallion pancake, and the "three-glass chicken" are always winners. The range of bean-curd possibilities is a joy. And I salute the courage it took to bring praline mousse to Pig Heaven, even under the nom de cuisine Peking snow ball. Only the pigheaded could object.
